I. Summary:

Senate Bill 2418 provides that a person arrested for failure to stop a vehicle at the scene of an accident involving the death of any person who has also previously been convicted of leaving the scene of an accident, racing on highways, reckless driving, driving under the influence (DUI), or driving while license suspended, revoked, canceled, or disqualified must be held in custody until first appearance for a bail determination. This change prevents judges who issue warrants for failure to stop a vehicle at the scene of an accident involving death from setting a predetermined bond amount in an arrest warrant. It also prevents local jurisdictions from placing the offense on a bond schedule with predetermined bond amounts.

The bill substantially amends section 316.027, Florida Statutes.

II. Present Situation:

Section 316.027(1)(b), F.S., provides that the driver of any vehicle involved in a crash occurring on public or private property that results in the death of any person must immediately stop the vehicle at the scene of the crash (or as close as possible) and remain at the scene until he or she has fulfilled the requirements of s. 316.062¹. Any person who willfully violates this subsection commits a first degree felony.²

¹ Section 316.062, F.S., provides that a driver of a vehicle involved in a crash resulting in death or serious bodily injury or damage to any vehicle or other property driven or attended by any person must provide his or her name, address, and vehicle registration number, and also a driver's license to a police officer or other person involved in the crash. The driver of any vehicle involved in a crash must report the incident to the nearest police department.

Section 901.02, F.S., provides that a law enforcement officer may arrest a person who commits a crime if the officer obtains an arrest warrant signed by a judge. At the time of the issuance of the warrant, the judge may set a bond amount³ or, in some circumstances,⁴ require the arrestee be held until first appearance⁵ for determination of bail.⁶ A person arrested on a warrant with a predetermined bond amount may immediately bond out of jail following an arrest by posting the bond amount.

A law enforcement officer may arrest a person who commits a felony without a warrant if the officer reasonably believes a felony has been committed.⁷ In this case, the arrestee is generally held until first appearance for a determination of probable cause and bail. In some jurisdictions, a bond schedule with predetermined bond amounts for certain offenses is agreed to and provided by judicial officers to the county detention facility. If an arrestee meets the requirements of the bond schedule, the arrestee may bond out of jail for the predetermined bond amount. This eliminates the need for an arrestee to make a first appearance before a judge.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Senate Bill 2418 requires a person who has been arrested for failure to stop a vehicle at the scene of an accident involving death to be held in custody for the court to set bail at first appearance if the person has previously been convicted of leaving the scene of an accident, racing on highways, reckless driving, DUI, or driving while license is suspended, revoked, canceled, or disqualified.⁸ This change prevents judges who issue warrants for failure to stop a vehicle at the scene of an accident involving death from setting a predetermined bond amount in an arrest warrant. It also prevents local jurisdictions from placing the offense on a bond schedule with predetermined bond amounts.

⁵ Florida Rule of Criminal Procedure 3.130 requires the state to bring an arrestee before a judge for a first appearance within 24 hours of arrest. At first appearance, a judge determines if there is probable cause to hold the arrestee, provides the arrestee notice of the charges, and advises the arrestee of his or her rights. If an arrestee is eligible for bail, the judge conducts a hearing in accordance with s. 903.046, F.S.

⁶ Section 903.046, F.S., provides criteria a judge may consider in determining a bail amount.

⁷ Section 901.15, F.S.
